

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

This book would not have been compiled but for the influence and service of three women to whom credit is due therefor: the suggestions of it by my mother some thirty years ago, and toward which she gathered records which would be unattainable now; the clerical aid of my daughter Nellie; and the present knowledge of Mrs. Sophia Wadsworth, rich in incident and suggestion, which has furnished clues to information essential to the fullness of the record, and otherwise irrecoverably lost.

Books like this are not made in answer to a commercial demand, but rather to gratify private sentiment and various personal motives of no interest to the world at large. They are probably the unworthy forerunners of a class of books which may be produced in the future, when the raising of men is made a subject of scientific study. What we lack is knowledge of ourselves—knowledge concerning the ancestry from whom we sprung, and of the hereditary vices, virtues and other characteristics we have had imposed upon us. Every one perceives the importance attached to the recorded pedigree of any domestic animal, and the increased value which it may confer upon them, though they may not recognize with equal clearness that human pedigrees are possibly to become of far greater value. The history of the human race abundantly sustains and exemplifies that law of evolution which is expressed as "the survival of the fittest," and the fittest people are they for whose birth there have been combined desirable hereditary traits fitting them for the intense competition of modern life. Every child should possess a healthful, enduring body; a mind capable of observing and reasoning with ability; and nerve force for zealous, energetic and long-continued effort. Francis Galton says in "Hereditary Genius:" "The most illustrious and so called 'well bred' families of the human race are utter mongrels as regards their natural gifts of intellect and disposition." "As a new race can be obtained in animals and plants, and can be raised to so great a degree of purity that it will maintain itself, with moderate care, in preventing the more faulty members of the flock from breeding, so a race of gifted men might be obtained under exactly similar conditions."

PREFACE.

It is believed that in their evolution human societies have passed through a phase of social organization in which the children have taken their names and traced their descents on their mother's side only, the paternal lineage being ignored then even more than is the maternal one with us. In virtue of natural laws, each child combines characteristics of all the lineages which have been blended in its parents, and needs must take an account of all of them, as far as possible, in learning to know itself. Thus there is no reason, in genealogical records at least, why a full account of both paternal and maternal lineages should not be preserved and equally regarded. Our family names are only conventional designations, serviceable for individual identification, and are but one of many hundred names to which any one of us are naturally entitled. For in each living person is an admixture of the blood of families innumerable, being two with the parents, four with the grandparents, and so doubling with each generation counting backward in time. The number of ancestors becomes so large within a few centuries as to exceed in number the present population of Europe. While intermarriages have lessened the apparent number of them, even this circumstance does not remove very far back the date when the total population of the country to which we trace our origin must be included among our ancestors, and thus in a literal sense, rather than in a sentimental one, "every man is my brother."

While special effort has been made to secure accuracy of record in the text of this book, it is foreseen that many errors will be discovered in it. All that can be done to remedy such errors is to take an account of them and also of omissions and misapprehensions of statement other than those of records, any of which should be reported to the compiler, within the present year, addressed to 81 Fulton street, New York City. They will be properly written up in an interleaved copy of the book which will be deposited in the library of the New England Historical Genealogical Society, Boston, Mass., for the benefit of genealogists. Possibly these corrections may be embodied in a printed circular for distribution to all possessors of the book.

In this book each person of the lineage is assigned a number which is nowhere duplicated. The numbers comprise, first, a figure that designates the American born generation to which the person belongs, and second, their number within that generation. Each family paragraph has for its title the number in the lineage of that parent who belongs to the Torrey family, and such paragraphs are in numerical order. The lineage numbers are the index for all cross references.

GENEALOGICAL TABLE of that line of the TORREY family which includes the American paternal ancestry of ABNER TORREY (4-1) and his children. The figures before the — gives the number of the American generation; that after it the number of the individual in the generation to which he belongs.

FAMILIES OF THE TORREY ANCESTRY.

NOTE.—The pioneers of the Torrey family in America were four brothers, William, James, Philip and Joseph, sons of Philip Torrey, of Somerset County, England. Researches made in England by Mr. H. A. Newton, of North Weymouth, Mass., secured the information contained herein of the English ancestry, and much of that relating to the families between that of Lieut. James Torrey and Abner Torrey has also been kindly furnished by him.

William Torrey (1), of Combe St. Nicholas, in the County of Somerset, England, who died in June, 1557, leaving a will, in which he mentions Thomasyne, his wife, and “every of his children,” without naming them.

Philip Torrey (2), son of the above William, and Margaret, his wife. His will is dated in 1604; mentions his son William, and daughter Dorothe; also his wife Margaret.

William Torrey (3), son of Philip (No. 2), and Jane, his wife. His wife died in 1639, at which date he was still living. The date of his death is not found. His son Philip had previously died.

Philip Torrey (4), son of William (No. 3), and Alice, his wife. He died in June, 1621, leaving a will dated 21 of April, 1621, in which he mentions three daughters: Anne, Mary, and Sarah, and four sons: William (5), James (6), Philip (7), and Joseph (8). (The will of the wife Alice is dated 1634, and mentions by name the same seven children, and states that the daughter Mary was deceased.)

These four sons all emigrated to America in 1640-1643, and located within a few miles of Boston, Mass., and seem to have been the ancestors of all the early families of the name in America. William (5), and Joseph (8), first located in Weymouth, James (6), in Scituate, and Philip (7), in Roxbury.

William Torrey (5), of Weymouth, Mass., son of Philip (No. 4), usually designated as "Captain William Torrey," was born in Combe St. Nicholas, Somersetshire, England, in 1608. The church records show that he was baptized on 21 December of that year.

On 17th March, 1629, he was married to Agnes Combe, of Combe St. Nicholas. She died before he left England, and he was appointed administrator of her estate. In 1640 he came to America, bringing with him two sons, Samuel, born in 1632, and William, born in 1638, and settled in Weymouth, which was thereafter his home. It is believed that he brought his second wife with him from England. Six children were born to him in Weymouth, as below :

1-1. SAMUEL, born in England, 1632.

1-2. WILLIAM, born in England, 1638.

- 1-3. NAOMI, born in Weymouth, December 3, 1641.
- 1-4. MARY, born in Weymouth, December 3, 1642.
- 1-5. MICAIAH, born in Weymouth, October 12, 1643.
- 1-6. JOSIAH, born in Weymouth.
- 1-7. JUDITH, born in Weymouth.
- 1-8. ANGEL, born in Weymouth.

Besides which he took two small children of his brother James, after their father's death, and brought them up with his family, viz., Jonathan and Mary, both of whom are in some of the records of early history erroneously referred to as his own children. He died in Weymouth, June 10, 1690.

WILLIAM TORREY (from Johnson's Universal Cyclopedia), settled at Weymouth, where he became a magistrate and captain of the trainband of the colony: was many years representative for Weymouth in the General Court, of which, as he wrote a good hand, he was usually clerk or secretary, and was a member of its committees whenever they had to do with education or literature, as in the case of that appointed to examine Elliot's Indian Bible. He wrote a work on the millenium entitled "A Discourse Concerning Futurities, etc.," first printed by Rev. Dr. Prince, in 1757, with a biographical notice.

Lieut. James Torrey (6), of Scituate, Mass., married Ann, daughter of Elder Wm. Hatch, Nov. 2, 1643. He died July 6, 1665, from injuries received from an accidental explosion of gunpowder. (Was she the Ann Torrey that married John Phillips, in Marshfield, April 3, 1677?) Their children were, as printed in "Davis's Landmarks of Plymouth":

- 1-11. JAMES, born September 3, 1644.
- 1-12. WILLIAM, born March 15, 1647; probably died young.
- 1-13. JOSEPH, born March 18, 1649.
- 1-14. DAMARIS, born October 26, 1651.

1-15. JONATHAN, born September 20, 1654 ; ancestor of Abner Torrey.

1-16. MARY, born February 14, 1657 ; married Josiah Blood, of Concord, Mass., February 3, 1690, and had eleven children ; see "Potter's Old Families of Concord."

1-17. JOSIAH, born 1658.

1-18. SARAH, born February 9, 1661.

1-19. JOANNA, born May 4, 1663.

1-20. BETHIA, born 1665.

LIEUT. JAMES TORREY (6), according to Plymouth Colony Records, came from England previous to 1643, as he was married in that year. June 8, 1655, he was made lieutenant for Scituate by the court, being sworn and admitted a freeman at the same meeting of it, and was made deputy magistrate by the court June 3, 1656. He was frequently engaged in business for the colony up to the time of his death, 1665, after which the court gave for the benefit of his four younger sons two hundred acres of land.

The following extract from the records is interesting.

At a session of the General Court of Plymouth Colony held September 27, 1664, the following order is recorded :

"Lieftenant James Torrey is authorized by the court to make contractes of marriage in the towne of Scittuate, and likewise to adminester an oath to giue euidence to the grand enquest, and likewise to adminnester an oath to any witnesses for the tryall of a case as occation may require ; and incase any pson resideing within this jurisdiction shall have occation to commence a suite against any Stranger or forraigner, it shallbee then lawfull for the said Lieftenant Torrey to issue out warrants in his maties name to bind ouer any pson or psons to ensware the said suite att the Court of His Matie to bee holden att Plymouth att any time by attachment or sumons as occation shall require, and likewise to graunt subpenaes as occation may require."

An account of the accident by which Lieut. Torrey lost his life was found in the records of the first church of Roxbury, Mass., made by Rev. Samuel Danforth, and published in the N. Eng. Hist. and Geneal. Register, page 163, Vol. 34, 1880, which reads as follows:

"July 5th. There happened a uery sad accident at Scituate, lieft. Torrey having rec'd orders fro the Gouvernor of Plymouth (by reason of the King's letter yt informes of ye Hollanders coming ag'st vs) to look to ye powder & ammunition of ye Town. He went into ye house of Goodma Tickner where ye Magazine of ye Town was, wch was but two barrels of powder & opened ym & while ye said lieftenant was drying some of ye powder abroad upon boards & dooers by some accident, G. knows what ye powder was fired both that in ye house and that abroad, & ye house blown & broken in pieces, * * * ye lieftenant was sadly burnt esp'ly on his breast, face, hands & armes, yet he lived till ye next day & then dyed."

Philip Torrey (7), of Roxbury, born 1615, came from England with William Torrey, and from the same place. Was admitted freeman May 29, 1644. Married October 1st, 1647, Mary, widow of John Scarborough. Had children:

1-21. JOSEPH, born July 2, 1649.

1-22. JONATHAN, born June 16, 1651.

1-23. MARY, born April 2, 1654.

In March, 1674, he, aged fifty-nine years, testified that he came with William and his son Samuel to New England from Combe St. Nicholas, in Somerset, "there living until the year 1640 (yeoman), in that year removing to New England;" that he knew them before and ever since, and George Fry united in the same testimony. He died in Roxbury May 12, 1686.

Joseph Torrey (8), of Rehoboth, in 1643 (from Savage's Genealogical Dictionary) "went to Newport in 1654, or earlier. Was on the Freeman's list 1655." Died 1676. Had one daughter who married and had children.

1-24. Name unknown.

"With an associate met Denison and Danvers, Massachusetts commissioners 1664, at Rehoboth, about some question of jurisdiction; was a lieutenant, and in 1670 sent with John Green and others as commissioners to adjust bounds with Connecticut, ruling elder of the church of John Clark at the time of his death, 1676. Perhaps he married a daughter, who may have been the eldest of that John Green, as by the genealogies I have seen."

(From Plymouth Colony Records): Joseph Torrey admitted freeman June 7th, 1648; was on the jury-grand inquest the same year. Was under bonds to keep the peace in 1646 or-7, and in 1649 and 1650, in the sum of ten pounds, and was with his wife and others presented to the court for meeting at their houses on the Lord's day.

Joseph Torrey was prominent in the affairs of the Providence and Newport settlements. He was a representative from Newport in 1656, and, with few exceptions, every year thereafter up to 1674. He was Secretary of the Colony seven years, Colonial Attorney 1671-2. He died in 1676. Concerning his family little is known. Austin's Genealogical Dictionary of Rhode Island prints an extract from a letter from Samuel Hubbard, of Newport, dated November 29, 1676, concerning him, as follows: "Having but one daughter, living at Squamicut * * * he sent a boat so as his wife, his daughter, and his son-in-law and all their children * * * all came."

1-15

Jonathan Torrey (1-15 from 6) went to Weymouth, probably to live with his uncle William, who was his guardian. He married Ruth, daughter of George Fry. He died at Weymouth, June 7, 1718. She died April 28, 1724, in her 74th year. Their children, all born in Weymouth, were:

2-1. MARY, born September 25, 1676; married, Norton.

2-2. RUTH, born August 17, 1679; married, Allen.

2-3. ANN, born March 3, 1682; married, Butler.

2-4. JONATHAN, born May 25, 1684.

2-5. SARAH, married, first, Saml. King, second, Ebenezer Hovey.

2-6. JOSHUA, born November 1, 1690.

Jonathan Torrey (1-15) is given by Savage as a son of William Torrey (5), the error arising from the relation of guardian and of being a member of his family. Either he or Jonathan (1-22) was a soldier in the King Philip War, and was reported as "in garrison at Mendon," in 1675.

2-4

Jonathan Torrey (2-4 from 1-15), born May 25, 1684, in Weymouth, who in early life left his home in the north part of the town and went to the south part or South Parrish, as it was then called, adjoining Abington. The name of his first wife was Margaret, but I have no further account of her. She had but one child :

3-1. JONATHAN, who was born October 2, 1711.

Jonathan (2-4) married a second wife, Lydia Green, August 9, 1712, and by her had :

3-2. MARGARET, born June 18, 1713. (d. July 29, 1738). m. Wm. Holbrook, February 20, 1734.

3-3. DAVID, born January 4, 1717; ancestor of a large family now living at South Weymouth.

3-4. ADAM, born February 4, 1723.

3-1

Jonathan Torrey (3-1 from 2-4), born October 2, 1711, in Weymouth, died April 9, 1784, married December 18, 1735, Deborah Shaw, of Abington, by whom he had only one child :

4-1. ABNER, born at Weymouth, December 12, 1736.

The mother died December 16, 1736, and the father married Sarah Smallpiece, December 8, 1737, by whom he had, as given in "Davis's Landmarks of Plymouth," the following children :

4-2. SARAH, born May 2, 1738.

4-3. DEBORAH, born October 16, 1739.

- 4-4. JONATHAN, born September 28, 1741.
- 4-5. RUTH, born September 18, 1743.
- 4-6. MARGARET, born April 7, 1746.
- 4-7. OLIVE, born July 17, 1748.
- 4-8. MOLLY, born November 13, 1750.
- 4-9. ELIZANETH, born May 20, 1752.
- 4-10. JANE, born September 2, 1754.

4-1

Abner Torrey.(4-1 from 3-1), a carpenter and farmer, born December 12, 1736, in Weymouth, Mass., and died, probably in 1826, in Hamilton, N. Y. He married, March 9, 1758, in Abington, Mass., Lydia Beal, of Weymouth, born August 26, 1738, died August 25, 1806, in Plainfield, Mass., daughter of William and Hannah (Smith) Beal, of Weymouth. Their children, all born in Abington, Mass., were :

- 5-1. JONATHAN TORREY, born December 28, 1758.
- 5-2. HANNAH TORREY, born December 30, 1759.
- 5-3. ELIAS TORREY, born April 20, 1764.
- 5-4. ABNER TORREY, born probably in 1767.
- 5-5. BARNEY TORREY, born January 10, 1771.
- 5-6. MOLLY TORREY, date of birth unknown.
- 5-7. BETSEY TORREY, born probably in 1777.
- 5-8. WILLIAM TORREY, born December 28, 1778.
- 5-9 OLIVE TORREY, born probably in 1783.

Abner Torrey participated as a humble citizen in those events which, possibly, beyond all others, have determined the great and successful career of the United States of America, such as the "French and Indian War" of 1756 to 1760, which secured nearly all of North America for the English speaking people, and the evolution of English institutions; and in the "War of Independence," of 1775 to 1783. After the war last referred to, Abner Torrey left the seaboard, where four generations of his ancestors slept, and joined in the great work of redeeming a wilderness and making a country. In 1785, the year after the death of his father, he moved with his family to the town of Cummington and Plainfield, Hampshire County, Mass. Some idea of the wilderness of the section may be inferred from an incident, the memory of which survives in the minds of his grandchildren. It was the stealing of his pigs from the pen by bears living in the surrounding forests. Cummington and the neighboring towns were settled largely by people from Abington and adjoining towns, and the intermarriages of the succeeding generation (the fifth in this genealogy) was by members of the same families, as had been the case before the migration began. In the case of Abner Torrey, he had been preceded in moving to Cummington by his son Jonathan, whose children were all born in the then wilderness (see 5-1). In 1804, Elijah Nash, whose wife was Betsey Torrey (5-7), moved to Central New York, and made his farm and home in the town of Hamilton, Madison County, New York. Several families of the Torrey connection, of both fifth and sixth generations, soon followed. After Lydia (Beal) Torrey died, in 1806, Abner Torrey lived first with his son William (5-8), but he dying in 1807, the arrangement was broken up, and Abner lived with his son, Dr. Barney Torrey, until in 1817, when he was taken to Hamilton, N. Y., where he lived the remainder of his days with his son Jonathan, and near to his daughter Betsey. He died probably in 1826 or 1827, and was buried in the Poolville graveyard.

He sang agreeably to his acquaintances, and knew many songs of army life and events. A granddaughter, now living, remembers calling on the neighbors with him, and sitting in his lap while he sang his army songs. Another recalls the circumstance of his religious feeling, and that he was constantly absorbed in prayer while at work in the fields or elsewhere.

He was, as were his sons, inclined to mechanical occupations, performing such carpenter work as his neighbors needed, making wooden-ware, etc. Probably always in the possession of a little shop, a small farm, and living the simple life and ways of all those about him. If our political institutions endure, it will be because of the simple life led by the generation to which our subject belonged, as well as by many of their descendants.

At the time of compiling this record, but little is known of the record of Abner Torrey's military life. When fuller publication has been made of town and State archives in Massachusetts, and those in possession of the National Government at Washington, further and more specific information can be gathered. Military ardor burned in the breasts of all men in Abington (as elsewhere in Massachusetts), not only at the time of the "French and Indian War," but also in the time of the "Revolutionary War." Family tradition, gathered from his children and grandchildren, who knew and associated with him, establish the fact that he was in the armies of both wars. (See the Appendix relative to military recorda.) Tradition indicates that he was in an expedition against Quebec either in 1758 or 1775-6. He was probably in the siege of Boston, and also probably with General Lincoln in the operations against Burgoyne, in 1777. One tradition concerns a movement up the Mohawk River, possibly that of 1755, and another of his being a prisoner at New York, wherein he fared better than others, as he served as cook, and thus escaped many hardships. If his family ever had any records they were lost a long time ago, and no one thought of writing out his recounts of his army life, which were, it is said, so often the subject of his conversations.

Jonathan Torrey (5-1 from 4-1), a carpenter and farmer, born December 28, 1758, in Abington, Mass., died June 14, 1837, in Hamilton, N. Y. Married, June 16, 1779, probably in Abington, Abigail Stowell, born, probably, in 1755, in Abington, died September 14, 1843, in Hamilton, N. Y., sister of the Caleb Stowell named in 5-6. Their children, all born in or near Plainfield, Mass., were :

- 6-1. JONATHAN TORREY, born August 18, 1781.
- 6-2. ELIAS TORREY, born February 5, 1783.
- 6-3. HANNAH TORREY, born in 1784.
- 6-4. LYDIA TORREY, born August 18, 1785.
- 6-5. ABNER TORREY.
- 6-6. AMOS TORREY.
- 6-7. DANIEL TORREY.
- 6-8. ELEANOR TORREY.

These four children died young, and the dates of their birth and death are undetermined at this time.

The compiler has been unable to learn the date at which Jonathan Torrey moved to Hampshire County, Mass. He left there probably in 1808 with his son Elias and their families, moving to Hamilton, Madison County, N. Y. He followed a mixed occupation of carpentering, making wooden ware and farming. As a Revolutionary pensioner, good natured, genial and social, with the then customary fondness for hard cider and toddy, he was well known and liked by all who knew him. Both were buried in private ground on the Hosea Thayer farm.

Jonathan Torrey enlisted in Abington, Mass., January 1, 1776, for twelve months under Capt. Wm. Reed, in the Massachusetts regiment commanded by Col. John Bailey, and was in the battle at White Plains, October 28, 1776, and discharged at Peekskill, N. Y. What other military service he may have seen is not known specifically at this writing. The reader is referred to the Appendix relative to military records.

NOTE.—The first pension act (1818) was for nine months in Continental line, and applicants usually specified only that service which covered the required nine months. Shorter periods were State troops and militia. At siege of Boston no service was over eight months in one enlistment; all discharged in December, 1775, that enlisted early.

5-2

Hannah Torrey (5-2 from 4-1), born December 30, 1759, in Abington, where she married Joseph Vining, and where she passed her days. No specific information concerning her has been ascertained, farther than the name of the man she married, and that they had no children. All tradition agree in these statements.

5-3

Elias Torrey (5-3 from 4-1), born April 10, 1764, in Abington, Mass. He moved to Charleston, S. C., where he was a harbor pilot, and was drowned in 1792, when the pilot boat and all on board was lost. He married, about 1785, Mary Toussiger, born December 24, 1769, died May 24, 1828, daughter of James Toussiger (a Huguenot) and Elizabeth Lambeth, of England. He left her a widow with three children, all born in Charleston, S. C., as follows:

6-9. Ezekiel Torrey, born in 1786, died 1821. He was first married to Miss Ann Louis, who soon died, childless. He married, second, Miss Eliza Clarkson, who survived him. They had one son, Clarkson Torrey (7-21), born in 1815, died 1840, unmarried.

6-10. Elias Torrey, born July 18, 1788, died August 13, 1821, unmarried.

6-11. Elizabeth Olive Torrey, born November 28, 1790, died April, 1793.

Widow Mary Torrey married, second, February 2, 1794, in Charleston, Capt. Frederick Burrows, a harbor pilot, by whom she had several children, and from one, a daughter, the above record was obtained in 1890.

5-4

Abner Torrey (5-4 from 4-1), a quarry operator, born about 1767 in Abington, Mass., died May 1, 1809, in Quincy, Mass., "aged 42 years." Married Susannah Hobart, who died January 11, 1849, in Quincy, Mass., "aged 73 years." Their children, the first two born in Dorchester, Solomon in Spectacle Island, and all the others in Quincy, Mass., were:

6-12. ABNER TORREY, born May 12, 1794.

6-13. JOSHUA TORREY, born November 19, 1795.

6-14. WILLIAM TORREY, born May 19, 1797.

6-15. SUSANNAH TORREY, born April 30, 1798.

6-16. NANCY TORREY, born May 20, 1799.

6-17. SOLOMON TORREY, born May 27, 1800.

6-18. ELIAS TORREY, born September 6, 1801.

6-19. ADELINE TORREY, born November 7, 1802.

6-20. IRENE TORREY, born December 23, 1804.

6-21. SARAH ELIZA TORREY, born July 24, 1808, died July 16, 1809.

The circumstance of Abner Torrey's death, before any of his children were old enough to have any interest in his family history, and the fact that all of his immediate relatives had left that section of the country nearly ten years before his marriage, while he was but a young man, and the further circumstance that all these children were dead before these genealogical inquiries were started, made the compiler work under great difficulty in solving the problems. It is understood that no member of the Quincy family knew anything of its lineage back of Abner Torrey (5-4). While no person of the connection in the West, now living, has visited the Quincy branch of the family in the maintenance of family acquaintance, there are those who know, as a matter of family discussion, that their parents and brothers and sisters did make in former years just such visits. The memory of these visits, and the recitation of a multiplicity of circumstances connected therewith, leave no doubt in the mind of the compiler that Abner (5-4) was a son of Abner (4-1). Several desirable dates of family events and the parentage of the wife Susannah are yet undetermined, not from any insurmountable difficulty, but from apathy of those who should be most interested in trying to determine them. However, the identification now made is all that could be had in any case short of documentary proof, which could be found, no doubt, if the importance of the case required it.

His early death, leaving a widow with nine children, the eldest but fourteen years old, imposed a burthen upon her which any one might shrink from accepting. She met the issue bravely. Her sons became active business men, some of them acquiring large fortunes; her daughters made good marriage alliances, and her descendants are numerous, have honorable records, and are reasonably prosperous.

5-5

Barney Torrey (5-5 from 4-1) was born in Abington, Mass., June 10, 1771, and died April 8, 1837, in Poolville, Madison County, N. Y. He married, June 27, 1795, Lucy Cunningham, the only daughter of Capt. John Cunningham, of Spencer, Mass. She was born in Spencer, June 11, 1775, and died June 11, 1854, in Welshfield, Geauga Co., O. He was a physician, and prominent in public matters. They moved to Hamilton, N. Y., in 1829. Their children, all born in Plainfield (except Dolly, born in Marlborough, Vt.), were:

6-23. DOLLY TORREY, born March 23, 1796.

6-24. DURA TORREY, born March 25, 1798.

6-25. DELPHIA TORREY, born September 23, 1801, died August, 1803.

6-26. BARNEY TORREY, born November 27, 1805, a farmer, died April 19, 1877, in Welshfield, O. (unmarried).

6-27. HARRY TORREY, born April 12, 1808.

6-28. SOPHIA TORREY, born February 13, 1811.

6-29. ORRA TORREY, born December 17, 1813.

6-30. HARRIET TORREY, born February 23, 1816.

Dr. Barney Torrey was fourteen years old when brought with his father's family from Abington to Plainfield, Mass. He was a person of superior abilities. He studied medicine with the physician of the town, Dr. Bond, and located for practice in the town of Marlborough, Vt. In a short time Dr. Bond gave up practicing in Plainfield, and a formal written petition was signed by the prominent inhabitants of that place, asking Dr. Torrey to settle with them, which he did, probably in 1797. For several years he was the only physician in Plainfield.

He was very religious in feelings, and pure minded in thought, and had a vein of poetic appreciation in his make up that was sometimes voiced in written verse. He used to lead the singing in the church. Kind hearted, charitable, and ever ready to yield his own right, rather than to oppress others; he never sued anyone. While Plainfield was on a well traveled stage route Dr. Torrey, who was prominent in many public affairs, was interested in stage lines, hotels, etc., and was always ready to join in advancing any matter of public enterprise that might come up. About 1829, he moved to Poolville, N. Y., and died in 1837.

After the death of Dr. Barney Torrey, his widow moved to Geauga County, Ohio, where she lived the remainder of her life with her son Barney and daughter Harriet, neither of whom ever married. Her father, Capt. John Cunningham, was a captain in the Revolutionary Army, of Scotch-Irish descent. His wife was a Thomson, from Londonderry, N. H. Her ancestors were Scotch Covenanters that fled to Ireland to secure religious freedom.

5-6

Molly Torrey (5-6 from 4-1), born in Abington, Mass., died, probably in 1813, in Hamilton, Madison County, N. Y. Married July 26, 1803, in Plainfield, Mass., Caleb Stowell, a farmer; baptized November 18, 1764, in Abington, Mass.; died May 27, 1839, in or near Hamilton, N. Y. Their children were:

6-31. CHANDLER STOWELL, born November 26, 1804, in Hampshire Co., Mass., died young.

6-32. CALEB STOWELL, born March 29, 1807.

6-33. RANSFORD STOWELL, born May 6, 1808.

6-34. WILLIAM STOWELL, born June 15, 1810.

6-35. DIANIA STOWELL, born May 4, 1812.

Caleb Stowell, who married for his second wife Molly Torrey, was a brother of Abigail Stowell, who married Jonathan Torrey (5-1), and a brother of David Stowell, the father of Mehitabel and Wm. J. Stowell (see 5-8, 6-47, 7-13 and 7-15). He was married three times, but had no children by his third wife, who was, it is said, a widow Torrey, and that they were married in Lebanon, N. Y. By his first wife, his children were as follows:

BARNEY STOWELL, born March 2, 1790.

POLLY STOWELL, born September 14, 1791 (unmarried).

BETSEY STOWELL, b. August 14, 1793, died unmarried April 27, 1814.

DAVID STOWELL, born February 17, 1796.

RACHEL STOWELL, born January 16, 1797, married Peter Holmes.

SUSAN STOWELL, born September 2, 1800.

The family migrations were from Abington, Mass., to Plainfield, Hampshire Co., Mass., and thence to Hamilton, N. Y.

5-7

Betsey Torrey (5-7 from 4-1) was born in 1777, in Abington, Mass., died January 3, 1860, in Hamilton, Madison County, N. Y., married September 10, 1795, in Plainfield, Elijah Nash, Jr., who was born, probably in 1770, and died April 5, 1847, in Hamilton, N. Y., son of Elijah and Betsey () Nash. They moved to Hamilton in February and March, 1804. Their children, of whom the first four were born in Plainfield, and the others in Hamilton, were:

6-36. WILLARD NASH, born March 11, 1797.

6-37. ZENAS NASH, born March 25, 1798.

6-38. MARILA NASH, born April 2, 1801.

6-39. WILLIAM NASH, born December 9, 1802.

6-40. DELPHIA NASH, born April 4, 1805.

6-41. JACOB NASH, born July 15, 1807.

6-42. LORING NASH, born April 10, 1809.

6-43. COMMODORE PERRY NASH, born April 27, 1812.

6-44. BETSEY NASH, born March 2, 1815.

Elijah Nash came, as stated, from Plainfield, and was descended, it is believed, from a family of that name, which was a numerous one in the towns of Plymouth and Norfolk Counties. Any one sufficiently interested could trace the lineage back several generations beyond doubt. Elijah Nash had several brothers. One, Jacob, remained in Plainfield. Zenas and Thomas moved, it is said, to Hamilton, and a sister Sally is named in 6-24.

William Torrey (5-8 from 4-1) was born December 28, 1778, in Abington, Mass., died September 26, 1807, in Plainfield, Mass. He was a farmer. Married January 31, 1803, in Plainfield. Polly Beals, born June 30, 1784, in Charlumont, Mass., died March 10, 1869, in Chatham, Madison County, O., daughter of Jonathan and Naomi (Bates) Beals. They had three children, all born in Plainfield, Mass.:

6-45. AURELIA TORREY, born September 16, 1803.

6-46. BETSEY TORREY, b. Aug. 20, 1805, d. Dec. 27, 1806.

6-47. WILLIAM TORREY, born September 23, 1807.

The widow married, second, December 16, 1808, John Shaw. They had three daughters:

MARY SHAW, born March 11, 1811, married Wm. J. Stowell.

PHILENA SHAW, born August 26, 1818, married Edwin B. Richards.

VENILA SHAW, born January 28, 1821, married Wm. Eddy.

5-9

Olive Torrey (5-9 from 4-1), born, probably in 1783, in Abington, Mass. Her parents moved to Cumington and Plainfield in 1785, in the immediate vicinity of where she lived, married and died. She married December 4, 1805, Joseph Gurney, Jr., a farmer, and son of Joseph and Tamar (Jackson) Gurney, of Abington. He was born probably in 1783, and died January 4, 1862. She died January 13, 1861. Their first child was born in Plainfield, the others in Ashfield, Mass., as follows :

- 6-48. JOSIAH GURNEY, born July 15, 1806.
- 6-49. WILLIAM GURNEY, born August 23, 1809.
- 6-50. ABNER GURNEY, born January 16, 1812.
- 6-51. LYDIA GURNEY, born September 29, 1815.
- 6-52. GRIDLEY GURNEY, born February 27, 1817.
- 6-53. ANSON GURNEY, born January 16, 1820.
- 6-54. CELIA GURNEY, born March 11, 1823.

6-1

Jonathan Torrey (6-1 from 5-1), a carpenter, born August 18, 1781, in Cummington, Mass., died December 29, 1840, in Hamilton, N. Y., married by the Rev. Moses Hallock, March 22, 1804, in Plainfield, Mass., Olive Thayer, born March 2, 1779, died February 17, 1871, in Lebanon, N. Y., sister of Hosea Thayer (6-3). The first three of their children were born in Plainfield, the youngest one in Adams, Mass. They were :

- 7-1. LUCY TORREY, born June 6, 1805.
- 7-2. NELSON TORREY, born April 8, 1807, died October 1, 1817, in Adams, Mass.
- 7-3. TYLA TORREY, born July 4, 1810.
- 7-4. HARRIET TORREY, born March 22, 1813.

Jonathan Torrey moved to Adams, Mass., about 1811, and took contracts for buildings, including cotton factories and other work, being a skillful workman. He moved to Hamilton, N. Y., in 1818, where he followed his trade of carpenter and builder.

6-2

Elias Torrey (6-2 from 5-1), a wooden ware maker, carpenter and farmer, born February 5, 1783, in Cummington, Hampshire County, Mass., and died October 9, 1860. Married, by Rev. Moses Hallock,

January 31, 1805, in Plainfield, Mass., Susannah, daughter of Benjamin Gardner, of Abington, Mass. She was born March 21, 1788, in Abington, and died October 31, 1858. Both died in Deansville (Marshall), Oneida County, N. Y. Their children were :

7-5. HENRY JACKSON TORREY, born September 12, 1805, in Ashfield, Mass.

7-6. SUSANNAH TORREY, born February 14, 1807, in Ashfield, Mass.

7-7. ELEANOR TORREY, born January 7, 1809, in Hamilton, N. Y.

7-8. SARAH (or SALLY) MARIA TORREY, born November 15, 1811, in Sherburn, N. Y.

7-9. POLLY ANN TORREY, born December 17, 1816, in Sherburn, N. Y.

7-10. WILLIAM GARDNER TORREY, born November 15, 1818, in Lyonstown, N. Y.

7-11. ABIGAIL JANE TORREY, born February 1, 1822, in Lyonstown, N. Y.

7-12. AMANDA CELINDA TORREY, born August 3, 1831, in Hamilton, N. Y., died April 10, 1857. Married July, 1856, in Yates, Orleans County, N. Y., William Torpey. No children.

They lived near Plainfield, Mass., until 1808, when they moved to Hamilton, Madison County, N. Y., and during the following eight or nine years lived in Hamilton or Sherburn (Chenango County). In 1818 they were living in Lyonstown, Ontario County, N. Y., and were there in 1822. In 1831 they were living in Hamilton again. Near the close of life they lived for a time in Orleans County, N. Y., near several of their children, and finally in Oneida County under like circumstances. He was a man of unflinching integrity, with deep religious feelings, was kind hearted, mildly spoken, and was well regarded by all who knew him.

Benjamin Gardner, the father of Susannah, the wife of Elias Torrey, had sons, Benjamin, Warren, Gideon and William. He had brothers, Ezekiel, Jacob, Abel Castle Bela, and sisters Rachel, Lear, Hannah and Catherine. His father's name was Benjamin, and probably lived in Hingham. This information is unverified.

6-3

Hannah Torrey (6-3 from 5-1), born in 1784, in Cummington, Mass., died January 6, 1847, in Hamilton, N. Y. Married March 13, 1806, in Plainfield, Mass., Hosea Thayer, a farmer, born November 26, 1784, in Springfield, Mass. Died January 16, 1872, in Hamilton, N. Y. They had no children.

He married second a Miss Lucas. No children.

6-4

Lydia Torrey (6-4 from 5-1), born August 18, 1785, died May 1, 1858, married December 6, 1808 (all in Plainfield), Jeremiah Stockwell, a farmer, born July 23, 1788, in Plainfield, Mass., died May 20, 1876, in New Philadelphia, O., son of Jeremiah and Hannah (Beswick) Stockwell. Their children, all born in Plainfield, Mass., were :

7-13. SARAH STOCKWELL, born September 8, 1809.

7-14. JEREMIAH STOCKWELL, born March 23, 1812.

7-15. DANIEL STOCKWELL, born February 13, 1814.

7-16. LORENZO DOW STOCKWELL, born June 10, 1816.

7-17. HOSEA THAYER STOCKWELL, b. Nov. 18, 1819.

7-18. JONATHAN TORREY STOCKWELL, born September 9, 1821.

7-19. MARY ANN STOCKWELL, born June 18, 1824.

7-20. CHARLES H. STOCKWELL, born June 10, 1827.

Jeremiah Stockwell, who married Lydia Torrey, received only such an education as the common schools of Plainfield furnished at that early day ; yet he was a person of remarkable natural ability, which was greatly improved by extensive reading. He formed his opinions with great care and deliberation, and when once formed he held to them with the utmost tenacity ; and it has been truthfully said of him that he never, in the slightest degree, changed his religious or political convictions. In his religious belief he was a Baptist of the strictest sect, and strongly devoted to his church and its principles through life. He was mainly instrumental in the foundation of a Baptist Church in Plainfield, and so long as he remained in that place was its chief support, financially and otherwise. The church being unable to support a minister more than half of the time, he, for a period of over thirty years, occupied the pulpit, and conducted religious services on alternate Sabbaths, to the entire satisfaction of the church and congregation.

6-9

Ezekiel Torrey (6-9), see 5-3.

6-13

Joshua Torrey (6-13 from 5-4), a quarry operator and stone cutter, born November 19, 1794, in Dorchester, Mass., died June 6, 1859, in Taunton, Mass., married April 25, 1819, in Quincy, Mass., Frances Nightengale, born June 17, 1791, and died March 12, 1822, both in Quincy, Mass., daughter of John and Frances (Burrell) Nightengale. Their children, born in Quincy, were:

7-22. An infant, b. February and d. March, 1820.

7-23. JOSHUA TORREY, born January 30, 1821, died, unmarried, February 15, 1867, in California, from the effects of an accidental gunshot.

Joshua Torrey (6-13) married second August 31, 1823, in Quincy, Catherine Louisa Field, born January 3, 1802, and died May 24, 1886, both in Quincy, daughter of Joseph and Releaf (Baxter) Field. Their children, all born in Quincy, were:

7-24. FRANCES TORREY, born May 31, 1824, living unmarried January, 1890, in Quincy, Mass.

7-25. JOHN OWEN TORREY, born January 10, 1827, died December 29, 1843, from the effect of an accidental gunshot injury.

7-26. CATHERINE LOUISA TORREY, born October 20, 1829, died in Troy, N. Y., 1838.

7-27. WILLARD QUINCY TORREY, a paving-stone cutter, born February 16, 1834, unmarried, living January, 1890, in Quincy.

7-28. JOSEPH FIELD TORREY, born August 26, 1836.

7-29. CAROLINE LOUISA PARKHURST TORREY, born October 5, 1838. Married January 27, 1878, in Quincy, Welcome C. Couchier, who was a soldier in Co. A, 11th Vermont, who died November 27, 1881. No children.

Joshua Torrey (6-13) was, during the war of 1812, captured on the privateer "Porcupine," and held in Dartmoor prison two years. In 1824 he tried to promote the building of a canal from the head of the creek up to near the stone meeting-house, in Quincy. The undertaking was indorsed by a committee of the town, but failed for lack of capital.

6-14

William Torrey (6-14 from 5-4), a quarry operator, born May 19, 1797, died January 1, 1859, married July 28, 1816, Joanna Nightengale, born September 10, 1793, died December 11, 1859, daughter of John and Frances (Burrell) Nightengale. All these events occurred in Quincy, Mass. Their children, Samuel, Joanna and Elizabeth, being born in Rockport, and all the others in Quincy, Mass., were:

7-30. (Name unknown) infant died March 5, 1817.

7-31. WILLIAM JAMES TORREY, born Feb. 19, 1818.

7-32. SOLOMON FRANCIS TORREY, born Feb. 5, 1823.

7-33. SAMUEL TORREY, born 1826, died 1830.

7-34. JOANNA T. TORREY, born December 29, 1830.

7-35. ELIZABETH R. TORREY, born July 26, 1834.

7-36. SUSANNA TORREY, born September 8, 1838.

In 1825 Mr. William Torrey, of Quincy, Mass., was engaged by Col. Thayer, Eng. U. S. A., to quarry the granite used in Boston harbor improvements. He commenced on the "Torrey Pit," now comprised in the immense quarries of the Rockport Granite Company, and furnished granite for Fort Warren, Castle Island, Charlestown Navy Yard, Portsmouth Navy Yard, etc. He was a ship owner, etc. See notice of him in the history of Rockport. William Torrey was on a commission in 1844 to build a new town hall for Quincy.

6-15

Susanna Torrey (6-15 from 5-4), born April 30, 1798, in Quincy, Mass., died July 2, 1865, in Troy, N. Y., married July 20, 1823, in Quincy, Isaac Parkhurst, a grocer, the date of whose birth and death is not reported. They had no children, but adopted and raised two daughters of her sister, Mrs. Nancy Havens (6-16), to wit: Ann Maria Havens (7-40), and Elmira Havens (7-41).

6-16

Nancy Torrey (6-16 from 5-4), born May 20, 1799, in Quincy, Mass., died September 10, 1843, in Pensacola, Fla., married first, August 29, 1819, in Boston, Mass., Rufus Foster, a house painter, born April 16, 1796, in Roxbury, Mass., died July 21, 1826, of yellow fever, in Mobile, Ala. Their children, all born in Mobile, Ala., were:

7-37. RUFUS FOSTER, born August 8, 1820.

7-38. THOMAS FOSTER, born May 16, 1822.

7-39. SARAH ANN FOSTER, born December 22, 1824.

An outbreak of yellow fever in Mobile in 1826, drove the mother and children to Massachusetts, the husband remaining, and dying with the disease. The widow found homes for her sons, Rufus with her sister Adeline (6-19), and Thomas with his grandfather Foster. She returned with her daughter to Mobile.

Nancy Torrey married second, June 1, 1828, in Mobile, Ala., John S. Havens, a cotton gauger, born August 8, 1800, in Shelter Island (near Long Island), N. Y., died April 6, 1838. They had two children, born in Mobile, Ala.:

7-40. ANN MARIA HAVENS, born April 6, 1829.

7-41. ELMIRA HAVENS, born February 19, 1835.

Their father dying, these two children were adopted and raised by their Aunt Susannah Parkhurst (6-15) of Troy, N. Y.

Nancy Torrey married third, October 20, 1839, in Mobile, Ala., Henry B. Brewster, who was born June 17, 1806, in Portsmouth, N. H., by whom she had no children.

6-17

Solomon Torrey (6-17 from 5-4), a quarry operator at Cohasset, and captain of a sloop, etc., born May 27, 1800, on Spectacle Island. Drowned in shipwreck, and buried October 5, 1858. Married November 14, 1847, in Quincy, Mass., Mrs. Olive W. Veazie. They had one child, born in Quincy:

7-42. ABNER H. TORREY, who died October 21, 1849, 8 months old.

6-18

Elias Torrey (6-18 from 5-4), a quarry operator, born September 6, 1801, in Quincy, Mass., died January 18, 1841, in Rockport, Mass. Married July 13, 1823, in Quincy, Mary M. Dwelle, born in 1802, and died February 13, 1825, both in Quincy. They had two children, both born in Quincy:

7-43. (Name unknown) died in infancy (weighed 1½ lbs. and lived three days).

7-44. MARY CAROLINE TORREY, born Feb. 6, 1825.

Elias Torrey married second July 4, 1826, in Rockport, Polly Woodbury Tarr, born September 13, 1808, and died October 27, 1827, both in Rockport, daughter of Charles and Sally (Todd) Tarr. They had one child:

7-45. ELIZA JANE TORREY, born February 23, 1827, in Rockport.

Elias Torrey married third October 31, 1833, in Gloucester, Mass., Polly Bailey, of Rockport, who survived him about two years. No children.

6-19

Adeline Torrey (6-19 from 5-4), born November 7, 1802, in Quincy, Mass., died November 9, 1872, in Troy, N. Y. Married October 28, 1824, in Quincy, Peter Turner, a boot maker, born about 1796, in Quincy, died May 2, 1872, in Troy, son of (Peter or John) and Mary (Adams) Turner. Their children, all born in Quincy but the last, who was born in Troy, were :

- 7-46. PETER TURNER, no dates furnished, d. unm.
- 7-47. ADALINE TURNER, no dates furnished, d. unm.
- 7-48. SUSAN TURNER, no dates furnished, d. unm.
- 7-49. PETER BOYLSTON ADAMS TURNER, born 1830.
- 7-50. ADELINE F. TURNER, no dates fur., d. unm.
- 7-51. SUSAN HOBART TURNER, no dates fur., d. unm.

- 7-53. ISAAC PARKHURST TURNER, no dates fur.
- 7-54. HARRIET E. B. TURNER, born Dec. 20, 1845.

6-20

Irene Torrey (6-20 from 5-4), born December 23, 1804, died July 27, 1862, and married April 1, 1828, all in Quincy, Mass., Seth Adams, a paper hanger, constable, deputy sheriff and insurance agent, born November 13, 1798, in Milton, Mass., died April 27, 1869, in Quincy, son of Lemuel and Hannah (White) Adams. Their children, the first born in Troy, N. Y., the others in Quincy, Mass., were :

- 7-55. IRENE HANNAH WHITE ADAMS, born February 1, 1829.
- 7-56. ADALINE TORREY ADAMS, born May 13, 1830.
- 7-57. HELEN W. ADAMS, died in infancy.
- 7-58. HELEN WOODWARD ADAMS, born June 18, 1836.

6-23

Dolly Torrey (6-23 from 5-5), born March 23, 1796, in Vermont, but was soon taken to Plainfield, died January 20, 1883, in Welshfield, O. Married in June, 1821, in Plainfield, Mass., Stephen West Whitman, of Goshen, Mass., born August 18, 1797, died August 13, 1826, in Poolville, N. Y., son of Rev. Samuel and Grace (Cheever) Whitman. They had one child, born in Plainfield :

7-59. SARAH CHEEVER WHITMAN, born May 6, 1822.

Dolly Torrey married second June, 1829, in Madison County, New York, Isaac Pool, a woolen manufacturer, and later a farmer, born October 6, 1785, in Plainfield, Mass., died May 28, 1849, in Welshfield, Geauga County, Ohio, son of Abijah and Sarah (Terrill) Pool. Isaac Pool was married three times. The first wife was a sister to James R. Fay (see 6-38). The second wife was a Snow. By each of these wives he had two children. By the third wife three, as named below, the first two born in Poolville, the third in Ohio :

7-60. EDWIN POOL, b. Sept. 25, 1830, d. April 5, 1832.

7-61. LAURA SOPHIA POOL, born August 16, 1832, living January, 1890, in Welshfield, O. (unmarried).

7-62. A son, born March 1, died March 30, 1836, in Welshfield, O.

Dolly Torrey was an earnest, faithful Christian woman. Her life illustrated the migration of American families. Born on the summit of the Green Mountains, in Massachusetts, moved to Madison County, N. Y., staying one year, going thence to Madison, Ohio, remaining three years. Returning to Madison County, N. Y., where her first husband was buried, thence to Massachusetts, staying a little time, and then back to Hamilton, N. Y., marrying her second husband, and after a few years (1835) moving to the town of Welshfield, Geauga County, Ohio, where she passed the remainder of her life.

6-24

Dura Torrey (6-23 from 5-5), was born March 25, 1798, in Plainfield, Mass., died July 31, 1885, in Huntley, Ill. Married November, 1821, in Plainfield, Mass., Marilla Joy, who died August 12, 1822, in Plainfield, Mass., daughter of Capt. Joseph Joy. They had no children.

Dura Torrey married second, September 18, 1823, in Hamilton, N. Y., Sallie Nichols, born January 24, 1804, in Hamilton, N. Y., and died June 3, 1887, in Lake View, Iowa, daughter of Daniel and Sally (Nash) Nichols. Sally Nash was a sister of Elijah Nash (5-7). Their children, the first two born in Plainfield, Mass., the others in Hamilton, N. Y., were:

7-63. SARAH M. TORREY, born October 12, 1824.

7-64. LUCY ANN TORREY, born December 10, 1826.

7-65. JOHN C. TORREY, born January 2, 1828.

7-66. CAROLINE E. TORREY, born April 7, 1831.

7-67. ORRA S. TORREY, born December 2, 1832.

7-68. HARRIET L. TORREY, born May 2, 1836, died June 24, 1841.

7-69. CELIA TORREY, b. June 27, '38, d. Jan. 26, '41.

7-70. NORMAN W. TORREY, born March 10, 1841.

7-71. LYMAN N. TORREY, born May 5, 1843.

7-72. CELIA LORAIN TORREY, born Dec. 22, 1846.

Dura Torrey lived in Plainfield, Mass., until about 1827, then in Hamilton, N. Y., until 1868, and finally in Huntley, Ill. He followed farming several years, and when unable to continue at it sought lighter employment. He was sympathetic in feelings and kind hearted, although somewhat rigid in discipline, and was a man of sterling integrity. His wife, Sallie (Nichols) Torrey, was a fine and capable woman, who, as a mother, successfully developed the better character of her children, who became reasonably prosperous in a worldly way, and the possessors of happy families before her death, thus conferring upon her that gratification which, above all others, crown a well spent life.

Harry Torrey (6-27 from 5-5), a merchant and hotel-keeper, born April 12, 1808, in Plainfield, Mass., died November 22, 1869, in Paola, Kan. Married first June 8, 1844, in Zoar, O., Ann W. Earle, "late from Matagorda, Texas," the date of whose birth was not furnished the compiler, and who died in 1845, in Canal Dover, O. They had but one child:

7-73. ANN ELIZA TORREY, born in 1845, died November 1, 1846.

He married second June 18, 1848, Mary Jane Redfield, born in Jordan, N. Y., and living January, 1890, in Paola, Kan., as Mrs. Judge Wagstaff. They had children as follows:

7-74. HARRY TORREY, born in 1849, and died young.

7-75. FLORA TORREY, no dates, living January, 1890.

7-76. LILLY TORREY, no dates, living January, 1890.

Harry Torrey had a varied experience in life. Soon after coming of age, he worked in his father's laboratory and invented the preparation for razor straps, so well liked and widely known throughout the United States. He started as a peddler and trader to find his place in the world, roaming through the States of New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and Ohio to the town of Canal Dover, in the latter named State. This was about 1834. He went into business as a country merchant, and continued until 1849, when, as one of the "Argonauts," he went to California, returning with $6,000 or $7,000 worth of gold dust in 1851. He was captain of an artillery company in Plainfield, and Colonel of a regiment of Ohio militia in Tuscarawas County, some time in the forties. He ran for Representative in the Ohio Legislature in 1853, and, as such, was the first Democrat elected in the district, which before then had always elected the Whig candidate. He served for two years with distinction, and then was defeated on the issues raised by the new-born Republican party. He had great personal popularity in Tuscarawas County, where he lived, and was the leader of the Democratic party there.

In 1855 he moved to Kansas, locating at Paola, where he kept a hotel, and was prominent and popular in politics as a Democrat.

Sophia Torrey (6-28 from 5-5), born February 13, 1811, in Plainfield, Mass. Married June 23, 1836, in Hamilton, N. Y., Norman Wilson Wadsworth, a farmer, born June 23, 1810, in Hamilton, N. Y., son of David and Clarissa (Porter) Wadsworth (See page 238 of the volume of Wadsworth genealogy). Both living January, 1890, in Oregon, Ill. No children.

N. W. Wadsworth attended the Genesee Wesleyan Seminary at Lima, N. Y., in 1839 and 1840. Moved to Ohio, where he taught school at Poland, and at Shanesville during three winters, and also serving as local preacher and exhorter in the M. E. Church. In 1844 they moved to Illinois, traveling by the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers, and inspecting locations for placing their home. Their choice fell to Rock River Valley, at Oregon, Ill., where they found one of the most charming landscapes of the then wild West, and where they are living January, 1890, on their farm, located as above. Mr. Wadsworth continued as local preacher several years, and for many years served the community by filling various township offices.

After the death of her mother, in 1854, Harriet Torrey lived with this family, and received that considerate treatment which the warm love of an affectionate sister could prompt for so great an invalid.

Mrs. Sophia Wadsworth has been blessed with the possession of a lively disposition and that intelligent inquisitiveness that has stored her mind with varied knowledge of the world, which she is able to convey in conversation or by writing. In family and genealogical matters she has proved the possessor of a retentive memory and large fund of information, which she gives freely, and which has materially aided in the compilation of this book, and every person benefited by this book is under obligation to her.

Orra Torrey (6-29 from 5-5), born December 7, 1813, in Plainfield, Mass. Living November, 1889, in Jackson, Mich. Married April 27, 1833, in Hamilton, Madison County, N. Y., Caleb Loud, a farmer, born December 26, 1812, in Abington, Mass., died March 14, 1874, in Jackson, Mich., son of Caleb and Polly

(Pratt) Loud. Their children, the first three born in Cumington, Mass., Anna in Pulaski, Mich., the others in Jackson, Mich., were :

- 7-77. SPENCER L. LOUD, born May, 1836.
- 7-78. CHARLES E. LOUD, born October 5, 1839.

Harriet Newell Torrey (6-30 from 5-5), was born in Plainfield, Hampshire County, Mass., February 23, 1816, and died June 23, 1883, at Oregon, Ill.

She was named after Harriet Newell, a missionary to India, who had died young in years, and whose biography and letters were widely read at the time, and exercised great influence in religious circles. Harriet N. Torrey was never married. She lived with her father during girlhood, moved with him in 1829 to Poolville, N. Y., and attended him during his fatal sickness, which ended in 1837. When about 21 years of age she, with her mother and brother Barney, moved to Geauga County, O. They made a family which continued until June, 1854, when her mother died. Soon afterwards she went to Oregon, Ill., and from that time until her death, in 1883, lived there with her sister, Mrs. Sophia Wadsworth.

She was religious in feeling rather than in protestation and display, and had deep felt sympathies for the suffering and down-trodden, wherever and wherever they might be. She was a lover of nature, and held communion with its visible forms, in flowers, fields and forests. She had a broad and vigorous mind, which reached its conclusions by deductive processes, which she expressed bravely and regardless of consequences, as is the case with capable people. She received a physical injury while young, from which she suffered greatly, and which restricted the development and manifestation of her powers. She was a Garrisonian abolitionist, when the distinction was one that many wise and able people shrunk from acknowledging. Under the hard restrictions which her bad health compelled, she occasionally lectured from the public stand in her home neighborhood, and corresponded with newspapers in advocacy of her proposed reforms and her social or political theories. She also gave expression to her sentiments in verse, which she published in current newspapers, and which frequently were widely copied in other papers. She studied medicine, a profession for which she had aptness, but her health did not allow her to practice it.

8-21. AMY LUCINDA TORREY, born July 24, 1849, and died within a year.

The widow of Henry (Jackson) Torrey married second, March 15, 1860, in Hamilton, N. Y., Col. Elijah Staples, by whom she had no children.

† Henry Torrey (7-5)—he never used his middle name, "Jackson"—was a machinist, and carried on that business at various places in central New York. * He learned first the trade of wagonmaking, but as it did not give scope for his mechanical tastes, he determined some years after marriage to change his occupation, which he did, and became a "finisher," and always possessed his own machine shop, which was of a size to require the services of four or five men, and in which he made machinery for woolen mills, and mills of such other kinds as in those days were scattered throughout the country. He was temperate in his habits, with a sanguine or optimistic temperament, simple in his tastes, a man of integrity, and well liked by his associates. He died leaving his widow without means of support, and with a family of six children. From necessity the family was scattered, the children found each their life in life, and all of them maintained honorable conduct and secured reasonable prosperity.

Concerning the parentage of Julia Webster, it is known as a tradition of her father's family that he was descended from one of the earliest colonists of Hartford, a Lieutenant Governor of that colony. John Webster, born April 28, 1778, in Glassonburg, (?) Conn., and Thankful Robbards, of East Hartford, Conn., born April 7, 1773, were married April 13, 1800, and soon moved into the wilderness of Hamilton, Madison County, N. Y., where they had a large family of children, and where they passed their lives. John Webster was a son of a John Webster, who died October 1, 1781, and who in turn was the son of a Jonathan Webster.

Julia Webster was born to a life of hardship and trouble, the duties and trials of which she met bravely, and was ever ready, prompted by very warm sympathies, to give every service in her power to aid others in their troubles and afflictions. Her education was such as the schools in early pioneer settlements afforded, which she improved in after life as her opportunities permitted, and she saw clearly the advantages of the advanced educational privileges of more recent times which she desired for her children.

Concerning Hon. Charles Upson, the following account is condensed from a biographical article by Hon. Thomas M. Cooley, in Volume 9, Michigan Pioneer Collection : Hon. Charles Upson was one of the leading and most influential citizens of the State of Michigan. He was the son of a farmer, and early in life spent his summers on his father's farm, and first attending and afterwards teaching school during the winters. He was a diligent student, and secured a good practical education, which fitted him for the varied and useful public career which he afterwards found. He removed to Michigan in 1845, and was admitted to the bar in 1847, and was in some useful and honorable public office during the remainder of his life. He was deputy county clerk, county clerk, prosecuting attorney, State senator, railroad commissioner, circuit judge, representative in congress, and a member of several important commissions. In none of the positions filled by him did he disappoint public expectations, either in respect to the ability which he brought to the discharge of his duties, or the fidelity with which he performed them.

"In no conventional sense, but in heart, in principle, and in conduct, Charles Upson was a good lawyer, a useful citizen, a kind husband and father, a man of sterling integrity and of benevolent disposition. He was, therefore, a thoroughly good man." After his death his widow married (2d) Jacob Franklin Pratt, September 17, 1888, in Coldwater, where both reside March 1890. He was son of John and Lemey (Gillott) Pratt, Courtland County, N. Y.

Hamilton Robbards Torrey (8-13 from 7-5), born October 4, 1829, in Springfield, Otsego Co., N. Y. He married first, October 18, 1859, at Elgin, Ill., Eliza Ann Hadlock, daughter of Chandler and Mary (Call) Hadlock, who was born November 30, 1843, at Lewiston, N. Y., and died May 11, 1874, at Aurora, Ill. Their children, all born in Aurora, Ill., were:

9-30. HENRY TORREY, born Nov. 1, '61, d. Mar. 4, '62.

9-31. CHARLES TORREY, born April 24, 1866.

9-32. IRENE TORREY, born June 15, 1867.

Hamilton R. Torrey married, second, December 21, 1875, at Coldwater, Mich., Martha E. Hard, of that place, where she was born July 11, 1850, daughter of Edward J. and Sabra C. (Robinson) Hard, of Saratoga, N. Y. Their children, the first born in Chicago, and the second in Urbana, O., were:

9-33. ZELIA HAMILTON TORREY, born Sept. 9, 1877.

9-34. ETHEL MAX TORREY, born January 18, 1882.

Hamilton R. Torrey learned the machinist trade in his father's shop in central New York, and after his father's death, when he was 18 years old, pushed out into the world, turning his attention to building, repairing and operating locomotives. He ran a locomotive seven years in the State of New York, until in 1857, when he removed west and worked for the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad system. He was foreman of the round house at Aurora ten years. In 1874 he engaged with the United States Rolling Stock Company, with headquarters at Chicago, and for ten years was either traveling for them or serving as foreman of shops in Chicago or at Urbana, O. In 1884 he re-entered the service of roads in the system of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, and located at St. Joseph, Mo., where he is living in 1890. He is a devoted member of several masonic organizations. He is deliberate and unassuming in action, and in his dealings with others tries to act "on the square."

8-15

Dolphus Torrey (8-15 from 7-5), born November 30, 1833, in the village of Sherburne, N. Y. Married October 8, 1867, at Salem, Ill., Mary E., daughter of William and Sarah E. (Copp) Jackson, of North Haverill, New Hampshire, born September 9, 1842, in Roxbury, Mass. Their children, both born in Salem, Ill., are :

9-35. NELLIE TORREY, born September 10, 1869.

9-36. JULIA TORREY, born July 28, 1872.

D. Torrey's school privileges were only those of a country public school, until after his father's death (when he was 15 years old). He had a taste for reading, which kept a book in his hand whenever possible, and for which he was much indebted to his mother's advice and encouragement. He attended the academy (Gilbertsville, N. Y.) a few months, and then bound himself as an apprentice and learned the trade of molder in an iron foundry. In 1851 he "did chores" for his board and attended the academy for one year. He then followed his trade, living one year at Lawrenceville, Tioga County, Pa., and in the spring of 1854 removed west, locating at Davenport, Iowa. The following year he was employed in the passenger department of the Pennsylvania railroad.

In 1861 he abandoned his business and enlisted as a private soldier in Co. A, 2d Ohio Vol. Inf. "three months men," and was in the first battle of Bull Run. He then traveled during one year for the railroad company, seeing much of the war operations in the "border States," and in July, 1862, was commissioned as second lieutenant and recruiting officer, and recruited a company in Davenport, Iowa. He was commissioned captain of his company, which became Co. D, 20th Iowa Inf. Their first campaign was in the "Army of the Frontier," through south-west Missouri and northwestern Arkansas, extending from August to May, during which time they marched over 1,000 miles, were in some skirmishes, fought the battle of Prairie Grove, and captured the town of Van Buren, on the Arkansas river. In June the command (that of Gen. F. J. Herron) joined the investing force in front of Vicksburg, and was at the extreme left of the Union line. Here Capt. Torrey was picket officer, and under constant fire for weeks, until the surrender. His exposure nearly cost him his life, for he was stricken with typho-malarial fever. After leaving the hospital in November he joined his company at Brazos, Santiago, Texas, and was at the capture of Mustang Island. He was appointed acting commissary for the expedition (Bank's Texas coast expedition), and was captured a prisoner of war December 14, 1862. He was held at Houston, Texas, and at Camp Ford Tyler, Texas, until exchanged at the mouth of Red River, July 22, 1863. He was at the capture of Fort Morgan, Mobile Bay. He resigned January 30, 1864, at New Orleans.

Capt. Torrey engaged with the Pennsylvania Railroad after leaving the army, and was soon called to a position in the office of the general passenger agent, where he continued until the end of 1868, when he was assigned to the superintendency of the company operating the sleeping cars over the Pennsylvania and connecting roads. He organized many of the lines of through cars between New York and St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati and Chicago, and continued in the position until 1875, when he was appointed "chief of the Bureau of Transportation" of the United States Centennial Commission. He originated and carried out a plan for the receipt of merchandise at the Exhibition, which has not been surpassed at any such exhibition. At the date of this publication he is with the Warren-Scharf Asphalt Paving Company, 81 Fulton street, New York.

POSTSCRIPT.

Circumstances compelled the printing of the earlier pages of this book while the other part was in preparation. All corrections, delayed information, and more recently acquired records are printed in this postscript arranged in paragraphs by numbers as in the preceding pages.

As many families have not kept current records of the names of children, of births, marriages and deaths, it occurs that when different members of one of them attempts to furnish a family record for a book of this kind, they disagree, more or less, in the various details, particularly of dates. The compiler has acted upon the assumption that a correspondent knows better than anyone else his own name, and the dates of his birth, etc. The records of existing families have, in nearly every instance, been submitted to the head of the family in the form of a printed proof for final revision and correction. Hence, in case of a discrepancy between the paragraphs of such a family, and the entries concerning the heads of it in the paragraph of their parent's family, the youngest is believed to be most reliable.

In "Davis' Ancient Landmarks of Plymouth" is found the statement that "the first clothing mill in Plymouth Colony was erected in 1643, by James Torrey, on the first herring brook in Scituate."

The text to the effect that William 1-12, probably died young must be an error, if Davis' is correct in stating that William, the son of the first James, removed to Plymouth, and had a son Haviland, but he may have referred to 1-11 as the first James. The third son of James is given as Joslah, by Davis.

The maiden name of the wife of Philip 7, was Mary Smith (Savage). Jonathan 1-22, had a son Philip, who married April 25, 1715, Mary (Story) Youngman, widow of Cornelius Youngman. (N. E. Reg., 1881, pp. 46, 47.)

8

The place called Squamicut in the text, is now Westerly, R. I.

3-1

The text is in error in giving the reference to "Davis' Landmarks of Plymouth." The list of children is adopted from another source, the record of which is mislaid.

It will be noticed that the list includes the names of but two sons, Abner, whose descendants are traced in this book, and Jonathan, who, it is believed, died while in military service against the French in Nova Scotia. If this assumption is correct, the Torreys most closely related to Abner's descendants will be descendants of David and Adam, named in 2-4. Sarah probably married Peter, son of Peter and Mary (Noyes) Nash (Hobart). Ruth may have married John Chapman of Hanover (Barry).

4-1

The date of Abner's removal to Hamilton, is determined by the recollection of two living grandchildren, and the date of his death by the statements of two other grandchildren. The date of his removal to Plainfield, is determined by a statement of Dr. Barney Torrey, that he was fourteen years old when it took place.

Dear Cousin:

OREGON, ILL., December 21, 1889.

I was six years old when grandfather Torrey went to make his home with uncle Jonathan, in Hamilton. After the death of grandmother Lydia Torrey, he had lived on his own farm with uncle William until uncle William died, after which event grandfather came to my father's and lived with us until taken to live with uncle Jonathan.

I remember grandfather well, and I had a great liking for him. Always when it was pleasant, he took me with him to call on the neighbors, and they always asked him to sing, for he had a musical voice. What I remember of his war experiences I have heard father and mother tell or talk over before me so many times that it must be so. Grandfather was taken prisoner and confined in what was called the "Old Hulk," in New York harbor. A great many died there, but he was a good cook, so they kept him employed at that, and of course he had enough to eat, while many prisoners starved. When he was let loose he walked to his home near Boston. The first night out he stayed with some old people. He was covered with body lice. Well, they heated their old fashioned brick oven, and had him take off his clothes, and they baked them, fixed him up generally, and started him on in good trim. At another time, probably before that, he went up the Mohawk river in batteaux to Fort Stanwix, now Rome, Oneida County, N. Y. Whether they had a battle, or how long they stayed, I cannot tell; neither can I tell what generals he was under. I always understood that both he and uncle Jonathan were out all through the Revolutionary War.

SOPHIA WADSWORTH.

In 1860, Elias Torrey (6-2), stated in answer to questions by the compiler, "My father had a son Abner, who died when 18 years old; a son Daniel, who died 15 or 16 years old, and a son Amos, who died also when 15 or 16 years old, these ages being as stated, more or less."

The town records of Plainfield, Mass., record the deaths of children of Jonathan and Abigail Torrey. Eleanor died September 28; Abner, October 2, and Daniel, November 14, all in 1808. These deaths were from typhoid fever. It is a family tradition that Jonathan and his father were out all through the revolutionary war.

5-4

Dear Cousin:

OREGON, ILL., January 15, 1890.

You ask what I know about the Quincy Torreys. I have often in childhood heard both father and mother talk about their going to Quincy, and about the relatives there. Mother went there before I was born. I often heard her talk of it. I gained an idea of its situation on a small stream in which the tide flowed, and that when the tide was out they gathered clams to cook or bake. Some of those boys must have been near father's age. He was fourteen when they moved to Plainfield. I think mother went "down country" more than once before she had many children, and she spoke of some things new to her, as of one of father's brothers living on an island in Boston Bay, large enough to keep many cows, and that they made cheese; that vessels coming in from the ocean stopped there for water and always took all the milk and cheese, no matter how green, and curd, even if 'twas ready for the press, because they had been so long out on the ocean, and it was good for scurvy. I do not think they stayed there many years, and must have left before Dolly went down, as she never said anything about it. Sister Dolly went down with father when I was six years old, and Harriet two. What small things fix events in the memory—father left her down there and brother Dura went after her in six or eight weeks. She had visited our cousins, the Fennos, in Boston, three weeks, where there was two or three girls very much liked. There she bought three dolls; they were about ten inches tall, trimmed beautifully. Harriet's was dressed in pink cambric, while ours were of nice flowered muslin. She said Harriet was so small she would tear hers to pieces soon. Her bringing those dolls, and saying what she did, fixed in my mind everything she said, for I thought she had been to Paradise. Well, she often talked of being in Quincy, and about the place in the same way my mother did; and again some thirty-five years ago, when I was visiting her and mother in Ohio, we talked one day about the Quincy relatives, and she spoke of their stylish ways and the proud feeling of their mother.

After I was old enough to know more about it, father was unable to go "down country" on account of heart troubles, but his memory was always "green" about the home of his childhood, and he was often talking about his relatives, and from his talk, as well as Dolly's, we gathered our ideas of them, so that I have no doubts about the Abner Torrey of Quincy being my uncle.

I know that uncle Abner lived in Quincy himself, and his family was there as long as our people kept any record of them or lived in Plainfield. Different people were going to Abington or to Weymouth every year to visit relatives left there, but those relatives seldom came to Plainfield, or we should have kept more knowledge of them. Uncle Abner was in the stone business, that is, had a stone quarry. After I was nine years old, father was sick a long time and gave up practice, except with friends, which kept him at home, and we children were more his companions in conversations and books, and he would talk about his early life, from which conversations I know that Quincy Abner was his brother, as well as if I had seen him myself. Again, the matter was talked over in the presence of brother Drury, about five years ago, and the fact of the relationship acquiesced in by him.

SOPHIA WADSWORTH.

6-1 & 3

The compiler of the "Thayer Family" genealogy is mistaken as to the marriages of both Olive and Hozea Thayer. Both dates and names are found in the town records of Plainfield, Mass. He gives their parentage as Nathaniel and Hannah (Penniman) Thayer, of Braintree, Mass., where the family had been settled from the first. The ancestry is Nathaniel⁶, born 1750; Nathaniel⁵, born 1709; Nathaniel⁴, born 1680; Nathaniel³, born 1658; Richard², born in England; and Richard¹, who came from England.

6-34

Gridley Gurney (6-52 from 5-9), born February 27, 1817, in Ashfield, Mass., died July 12, 1856, in Arlington, Vt. He married January 23, 1840, Esther Fisk, daughter of Daniel and Esther (McCoy) Fisk, born in 1822, in Palatine, N. Y., and died in 1882 in Wardsboro, Vt. They had four children :

7-164. ANDREW J. GURNEY, born March 15, 1843, in Hawley, Mass.

7-165. ELIZABETH E. GURNEY, born 1849 in Plainfield, Mass., married August 9, 1867, in Hawley, Mattoon Church, and is reported to have one child, married.

7-166. EUGENE GURNEY, born 1856 in Arlington, Vt.

7-172. EMMA GURNEY, born 1854, died February 25, '75, unmarried.

Gridley Gurney was a farmer and a miller, and once owned the Plainfield mill, formerly that of Joseph Beal, the "Mountain Miller" of Rev. Mr. Hallock's book.

6-53

Anson Gurney (6-53 from 5-9), born January 16, 1820, in Ashfield, Mass., died February 27, 1863, in Windsor, Vt., where he worked in the gun shop. But little can be learned concerning this family. He married in 1849, in Westminster, Vt., Ann Miller of that place, and confusing reports are best harmonized by assuming that they had two children :

7-173. FLORA GURNEY, married to unknown.

7-174. ANNA GURNEY.

The earliest record of the Webster family, to which Julia, who married Henry Torrey, belonged, is of Governor John Webster, of Connecticut, who by tradition came from Warwickshire, England, as did all but one or two of his children. His wife was Agnes. He was one of the first settlers of Hartford, Conn., was representative in 1637, magistrate 1639-1655, deputy governor in 1655, and the fifth governor of the colony 1656-7. Owing to religious disagreements he removed with others and founded Hadley, Mass., in 1659, where he died April 5, 1661. His children named in his will were Matthew, William, Thomas, Robert, Anne, Elizabeth, and Mary.

His son Robert remained in Connecticut, and settled at Middletown, and at the organization of the town in 1651 or 1652, was chosen Recorder. About 1660, he removed to Hartford. He married about 1652, Susannah, daughter of Richard Treat. He was a lieutenant and saw service, was a representative, received a grant of land, and died before 1677. The names of ten children are recorded.

The third child of Robert Webster was Jonathan, born January 9, 1657, whose first wife was Dorcas, daughter of Stephen Hopkins, and granddaughter of John Hopkins, one of the first settlers of the town. They were married May 11, 1681. She died in 1694, and he in 1735, aged 78 years. Their first child was Jonathan, born March 18, 1682.

The second Jonathan Webster, great grandson of Gov. John Webster, married December 14, 1704, Esther, daughter of Benjamin Judd, of Farmington, Conn., and settled in Glastonbury, Conn., and had nine children, the first of which was the third Jonathan, the date of whose birth has not been ascertained.

The third Jonathan married in February, 1730, Mabel, daughter of John Risley, of Hartford, Conn. The records name ten children, the ninth of which is John, born May 12, 1747.

John Webster, born in 1747, died October 1, 1781, and was married November 9, 1769, to Elizabeth House, who was probably a daughter of Jonathan and Elizabeth House. They had six children, the fourth being an only son named John, born April 28, 1778.

John Webster, born in 1778, married in East Hartford, April 13, 1800, Thankful, daughter of Benjamin Roberts, Jr., and wife, who was Dorothy, daughter of Dea. John Goodwin. Thankful was born April 7, 1773, and died in Hamilton, N. Y., April 14, 1835. John Webster died June 18, 1850, in the same place. They had nine children, to wit:

BETSEY, b. May 17, 1802, m. Arastarchus Williams, and had 8 children.

CHARLOTTE, b. December 1, 1803, m. Joseph Cox, and had 5 children.

JOHN GOODWIN, b. March 18, 1805, m. Lucretia Brainard, had 8 ch.

SOPHIA, born October 20, 1806, and died young.

JULIA, born April 24, 1808, married Henry Torrey, and had 10 children.

PASCAL HOUSE, born November 28, 1809, and died young.

MADISON HOUSE, b. April 21, 1812, m. Harriet Wilcox, and had 4 ch.

PASCAL, b. March 1, 1814, m. Caroline Muzzy; died, leaving one child.
HAMILTON ROBBARDS, born August 29, 1816, and died young.

7-7

The lineage of Abner Nash, one of the pioneers of the town of Hamilton, N. Y., whose descendants are named in this book in family paragraphs 7-7, 7-64, 7-66, and others, is published in full in a book, the title page of which reads "The Nash Family; or, Records of the Descendants of Thomas Nash, of New Haven, Conn., 1640," by Rev. Sylvester Nash, Essex, Conn., 1858, from which the following statements are condensed:

1. The first person of the known line is Thomas Nash, born in England, sojourning in Holland, and finally settling in New Haven, Conn., where he passed his life until his death in 1658. He married Margery Baker, of Hertfordshire, Eng.

2. His youngest son, Lieut. Timothy Nash, born in 1626, in England, or in Leyden, Holland, was a blacksmith, and probably a gunsmith, as was his father. He married Rebecca Stone, daughter of Rev. Samuel Stone, of Hartford, Conn. He removed to Hadley, Mass., probably in 1663, where he passed the remainder of his life, dying in 1699.

3. The sixth child of Lieut. Timothy Nash was Lieut. John Nash, born August 21, 1667, who spent his life in Hadley, was a blacksmith, and an extensive land holder. He married second in 1691, Elizabeth Kellogg, and they had eleven children, the second one being John in the line which we are tracing. The first John was much employed in town business, and was representative for the town in the General Court for many years. He died October 7, 1743, leaving a handsome estate. His widow removed to and died in Hartford, Conn.

4. The second John Nash, born July 2, 1694, known as Deacon John Nash, married November 1716, Hannah Ingram. They removed to that part of Hadley now Amherst, where he was prominent in church affairs, and where he died probably before 1778. He was a blacksmith. They had four children, the first of which was Jonathan.

5. Jonathan Nash, born July 28, 1717, spent most of his life in Amherst, where he died in 1796. He married Mary Hawley, and had eight children, the fifth being Abner Nash.

6. Abner Nash, born April 1, 1757, died in Earlville, Madison County, N. Y., August 22, 1837. He married first Hannah Dickinson, of Whatley, Mass., born April 7, 1763, dying November 17, 1812. They lived in Whatley many years, removing about 1793, to Hamilton, N. Y. Their children were:

1. ROANA NASH, b. Dec. 23, 1767, m. Isaac White, of Lebanon, N. Y.
2. CONTENT NASH, born Nov. 30, 1789, m. her cousin, Cotton Nash.
3. THEODOSIA NASH, born October 31, 1791, married Jason Crain.
4. HORACE NASH, born November 5, 1794, married Phylinda Farr, and settled at Earlville.
5. AMOS NASH, born June 20, 1796, died 1816.

6. SOPHIA NASH, born February 26, 1797, died 1799.
 7. DELIA NASH, born December 20, 1799, married Rufus Harrington.
 8. ABNER D. NASH, born September 3, 1801, m. Almira Hutchinson, settled at Pavilion, Mich.
 9. MARVIN NASH, born February 4, 1804, m. Abigail Walker, and settled at Adrian, Mich.
 10. MORRIS NASH (first), a twin of same date; died 1805.
 11. MORRIS NASH (second), born May 13, 1806, married Eleanor Torrey, settled at Pavilion, Mich.
 12. SAMUEL NASH, born July 14, 1809, died 1816.
- Abner Nash married second Sarah Munson, of Whatley, Mass., and they had two children:
13. MOSES M. NASH, born July 22, 1815; married Esther E. Porter, and settled at Ridgway, N. Y.
 14. GEORGE W. NASH, born November 18, 1817, died 1819.

APPENDIX.

ETYMOLOGY.

The origin of the name Torrey, like that of most other names, is not a matter of record, but only one of inference. The name may be considered in the forms Torrey, Torry, Torri and Torre, to which several modified forms of spelling are obviously related.

There are several linguistic roots of equal value, as hypothetical sources from which the name TORREY may have been derived. As it is written to-day it is composed of the root "torr" and the suffix or termination "ey" (y as in busy), and was probably first applied as a sobriquet or nickname to a family or group of persons. The suffix or ending ey is in accordance with the genius of our language, and implies connection with that which the simple root word designates. The name may have been given to folks living on or among very prominent steep hills, or natural towers, and so be affiliated to torrents, tor-heads (head-lands). Again the exposure of such tower-hills or headlands to the fierce heat of the sun, suggests the condition of baking or burning as in torrid, and words derived from torrere to parch; and their exposure in storms when the lightning may be seen flashing in their vicinity, suggests them as the source of the name thunder, or of the God Thor; or the name might have been given to persons or families who remained in the faith of the god Thor at the time most people about them had been converted to Christianity. If we take into consideration the slipshod pronunciation of names by many people, who, from habit or from defects in their vocal organs, effect changes of sound that require changes of letters in the spelling of them when they may be written for record, we can better understand the vague result which must follow attempts to trace family names back to their beginning.

Most persons in England could neither read nor write during those centuries when family names were adopted by most inhabitants of that country. Considering the family name Torrey, the letters "rr" serve to insure a pronunciation which many persons give to a single "r"; the "ey" for short i, is easily supplanted by "e," "y" or "i," any one of which may represent short i. The root word "torr," or possibly "tor," is easily varied in pronunciation (and spelling) by changes in the sound given the letter "o," as there used. The correct sound is that of o in or; yet many persons sound a long o, as in tow, and again many sound the o as a in tare.

We may easily get, judging from current perversions of the name Torrey, such names as: Tarey or Tarry, Torey or Tory, and with various changes with the final e, i and y, and these present usages of the name

Torrey should serve to caution the investigator against all forms of dogmatic assurance of the derivation of it many centuries ago.

Old records give many names that may have been changed to Torrey, as one of 1347, when Adam Tore was a member of Parliament from Edinburgh, a name which, if spoken in two syllables, is clearly Torrey.

Webster's dictionary gives TORRE, n. (probably from tear; Scot, tore, W. tor, a break, cut; tori, to break, cut). The dead grass that remains on mowing land in winter and spring. (Prov. Eng.)

The name Torre (with variations of spelling), is common with the Portugese, Spanish, Italian and French people. It is a matter for inquiry as to the origin of it in these languages. Was it due to the Northmen?

We have but to imagine an individual or family of Torreys isolated from relations who would help maintain the correct pronunciation of the family name, and placed within the influence of such mispronunciations as indicated, to establish a modification of the name, and make a new family name. So applying the supposition back to ascertain the beginning of the name Torrey, we can easily comprehend that the root torr may have started in a perversion of tarr, or tar, tur, or turr, and in like way possibly of ter, tir and tyr. Probably the t and r are the only certain elements of sound which are necessarily in the original word.

The following words are given as indicating, in the writer's opinion, the object from which, by some association of ideas, the name Torrey was probably derived:

TORR, the Northmen's God of War, Thor.

TOR, a steep hill.

TURRIS, a tower.

NOTE.—(Tory, the designation of the adherents to the crown during the American Revolution, is a word first used in English politics in 1679, said to be an Irish word signifying a robber, savage, or from toree, to give, as if your money.)

"Torr, Thunder and Donner, are probably different forms of the name Thor, Son of Odin, and the most powerful of the Gods. * * * Thor, is the Scandinavian pronunciation of the name." "These three names then, Torr, Thunder and Donner, may represent respectively the Scandinavian Low German and High German name of the God of Thunder." "Thor by itself, does not seem to have been anciently common as a Scandinavian name. Finn Magnusen (Lex. Myth.) states that though he could reckon up about sixty compound names, he knew no instance of the simple form. The name Tor occurs several times in Domesday Book, particularly in Yorkshire, where, both from the locality and the pronunciation, it is more probably of Scandinavian origin. There was a Thor surnamed the Long, an Anglo-Saxon or Northman of some note about the time of the Conquest, whose seal is described in No. 53, of the Archæological Journal." From "English Surnames and their place in the Teutonic Family," by Robt. Ferguson, Lon., 1858. 12 mo., pp. x and 429.

WAR RECORDS.

Records of the American Revolution have been accumulating in the archives at Washington for more than 100 years, and are now stored in several rooms of the new state building in Washington. They fill hundreds of old boxes and barrels. They cover everything from a private's pension affidavit to the dispatches of general officers. No effort has ever been made to systematize them. To look for any one paper, or any series of papers, would be as useless as searching for the proverbial needle in a stack of hay. In these records lie the history of the nation's birth. Their value to historians, antiquarians and genealogists is inestimable, and yet, for all practical purposes, they might as well be at the bottom of the Detroit River. Congress owes it to itself and to the people that these papers should be properly indexed and preserved for future generations. It would take 200 clerks ten years to perform the work, but the money paid for their services would not be misspent.—Detroit Journal.

The Archive Room in the State House in Boston contains a large number of documents of varied character, relating to all kinds of events connected with the history of the State of Massachusetts. Many of the papers, like muster rolls, are arranged in bound volumes and indexed. Others are in bundles and files, and cannot be examined without expending much time, and at much expense. There are nine volumes of muster rolls relating to the French and Indian Wars of the last century. There are as many as probably 150 volumes relating to the Revolutionary War, and a vast mass of papers in files and bundles, which ought to be bound in volumes and indexed. To do this will tax the State heavily, and be yet more expensive if the most valuable of the collection is printed, as it should be to avoid an irreparable loss from fire.

MILITARY SERVICE.

The circumstance that each of the four Torreys, brothers, who came from England about 1640, received appointments to military positions in the colonies, justifies the assumption that they, as a family, possessed special fitness therefor, and it is probable that they had seen military service in England. They were educated men. An affidavit by Philip Torrey (7), speaks of himself as having been a yeoman.

Of the military service of either of the Jonathan Torreys, 1-15 and 2-4, nothing is known to the compiler. But Jonathan Torrey 3-1 saw service in the French and Indian War of 1755 to 1763, and possibly it was his son Jonathan jr. (4-4) who lost his life in the Louisburg expedition. Of Abner Torrey (4-1) it appears that he was often in State or militia service, in both wars. The influence of the community around him, in Abington, may be judged by the statement that "Seventeen Abington men were lost in the old French War, and in the Revolutionary War, almost every man capable of bearing arms was in the service for a longer or shorter period."

The compiler has had the Massachusetts records searched for references to persons named Torrey, and prints the result received herein, not as a complete statement, but as the best that can be done, readily, until the records are arranged and rendered more accessible. It is printed with the belief that it will be found particularly interesting to all members of the Torrey family in the United States. The dates of the service recorded indicate in each instance the war and the set of records furnishing the information.

ABNER TORREY.

Abner Torrey, born in Weymouth and living in Abington, Mass., age 19 (being 4-1 of this book) is named in several rolls (Vol. 94, pp. 166, 330, 362 and 457) as of Maj. Samuel Thaxter's company, Col. Richard Gridley's regiment of foot, for the Crown Point expedition, under John Winslow commanding. Mustered Boston, May 4, 1756. Again mustered Boston, February 10, 1757. Entire service of Abner Torrey, March 19 to December 9, 38 weeks, pay £1 12s a month; amount, £15 4s.

In 1757, Abner Torrey served from March 19 to December 17 in Maj. and Capt. Samuel Thaxter's company (Vol. 95, p. 27).

In 1758, Abner Torrey, private, of Hanover, served from April 14 to November 17 in Capt. Abel Keene's company, in Thomas Doty's regiment, raised for the reduction of Canada (Vol. 96, p. 491).

In 1761, Abner Torrey, private, of Abington, served from May 25 to December 7 in the company in His Majesty's service under the command of Lemuel Dunbar (Vol. 99, p. 126).

In 1775, Abner Torrey, of Abington, private, served from April 20 to 23, inclusive (and traveled 40 miles), in Capt. Edward Cobb's company, in Col. Edward Mitchell's regiment, who marched on the alarm of April 19, 1775, from Abington to Bridgewater (Vol. 11, p. 260).

In 1778, Abner Torrey engaged June 26, and served 24 days in Capt. John Ames's company of militia (Vol. 55, p. 27).

In 1778, Abner Torrey, corporal, served two weeks and one day in Capt. Edward Cobb's company, in Col. Edward Mitchell's regiment, in Gen. Cushing's brigade, who marched December 9 on an alarm from Abington to Bristol, R. I. (Vol. 1 or 50, p. 138).

In 1775, Stephen Torrey, private, of Hanover, served 2 weeks in Capt. Amos Turner's minute company, in Col. John Bailey's regiment, April 19 (Vol. 13, p. 139). And in 1776, this company, in John Cushing's regiment, marched to Bristol, R. I., on alarm of December 8, 1776, and Stephen Torrey, private, served 15 days (Vol. 3, p. 178).

In 1776, Stephen Torrey, sergeant, in Capt. Nathaniel Winslow's company, in Col. Simeon Cary's regiment, marched from Roxbury, February 12, 1776. James Torrey and Nathaniel Torrey privates (Vol. 24, p. 38).

In 1776, Stephen Torrey, sergeant, of Hanover, enlisted, May 15, in Capt. Nathaniel Winslow's company, in Col. Josiah Whitney's regiment (Vol. 24, pp. 35, 37 and 40), with whom is also named Warren Torrey, private, of Scituate, and pay rolls show service in August, September, October and November.

In 1776, Stephen Torrey, and Jacob, Nathaniel and Warren Torrey signed a petition as of companies of battalions stationed at Hull, September 17, 1776 (Vol. 55, file N, No 59).

In 1777, Stephen Torrey, of Hanover, equipt, enlisted for 3 years, age 44 (Vol. 27, p. 160).

THOMAS TORREY.

In 1756, Thomas Torrey, lieutenant, age 35, born and enlisted in Plymouth, gentleman, mustered May 5 in Maj. Moses Deshon's company, in Col. Joseph Thatcher's regiment, for intended expedition against Crown Point (Vol. 94, p. 175); mustered at Fort Edward, July 26 (p. 297) and (p. 514) on October 11, 1756.

In 1754-6, Thomas Torrey, private, was in Capt. Wm. Lithrow's company at Fort Halifax, October 22, 1754, to June 17, 1756 (Vol. 94, p. 246).

In 1757, Thomas Torrey, 2d lieutenant, served from February 18 to December 5, 1757, Capt. Nathaniel Cook, in H. M. S. (Vol. 96, p. 52).

In 1775, Thomas Torrey, private, served 7 days under Mr. Stephen Churchill, and marched to Marshfield from Plymouth, April 20, 1775 (Vol. 12, p. 7).

In 1775 or 1776, Thomas Torrey, private, of Salem, Essex County, 4th Regiment, in Capt. Gleason's company, and Col. Nixon's regiment (Vol. 52, p. 35). At page 106 is the original receipt for pay, and again of December 24, 1776, and of February 1, 1777, and in Vol. 56, p. 28, Thomas Torrey, of Marblehead, is named in a report of Capt. Ebenr. Winship's company in Col. Nixon's regiment (See also Vol. 51, No. 34, p. 41). The Continental Army Books, book of officers, have an entry—Thomas Torrey, private in Capt. Barnes' light infantry, in Col. Nixon's (6th) regiment, served from January 1, 1777, to December 31, 1779.

In 1775, Thomas Torrey, of Hanover, private, is named in a return of Capt. Elijah Crooker's company, in the regiment of foot commanded by Brig. Gen. Thomas, in the Army of the United Colonies of North America, October 7, 1775 (Vol. 56, p. 234).

In 1778, Thomas Torrey, private, served 1 month and 16 days, from July 29, as by pay roll of Capt. William C. Cotton's company, in Col. Josiah Whitney's regiment, from Plymouth County, and marched to Rhode Island (Vol. 1, p. 169).

In 1777, Thomas Torrey, private, is named in roll of Capt. Nathaniel Goodman's company in Col. Theophilus Cotton's regiment, upon a secret expedition against Newport, R. I., September 25 to October 31, 1777 (Vol. 19, p. 99).

In 1778, Thomas Torrey, private, August 1 to August 15, on Capt. Abram Washburn's company roll, in Col. Jacob Gerrish's regiment, at New Boston, 6 months from July 1, 1778 (Vol. 24, p. 94).

In 1780, Thomas Torrey, "term during the war," was appointed sergeant May 1, in Capt. William Treadwell's company, in the 3d regiment of Massachusetts Artillery, in the service of the United States, Col. John Crane (Vol. 51, file 13). The Continental Army books have an entry as follows: Thomas Torrey, corporal in Capt. Treadwell's company, in Col. Crane's regiment, from March 18, 1780, to December 31, 1780, 2 months as a corporal, and 7 months and 12 days as a sergeant. On page 11, Vol. 29, is "A list of men enlisted from Middlesex County, December 2, 1780, for 3 years and some for during the war," names Thomas Torrey, 21 years old, 5 ft. 3 in. high, complexion black, hair black, eyes black, farmer, of Medford, enlisted for 3 years. This evidently relates to the same man as the entry in Vol. 54, file F (Hosmer's book, p. 19), which, giving the same description, says the enlistment was May 5, 1781, and as no company is named, we give another entry from Vol. 50, file 7, by which Thomas Torrey, private, enlisted May 5, 1781, in Capt.

Jereh Miller's company, in the 1st Massachusetts regiment, Col. Joseph Vose.

In 1778 to 1783, Thomas Torrey, private, was in the 6th Massachusetts Regiment, and is named in the settlement of accounts between the State and the United States (Vol. 53, p. 217 $\frac{1}{2}$, and Vol. 54, file A, No. 11).

WARREN TORREY.

In 1775, Warren Torrey, private, for 6 months, July 17, 1775, roll of a company under command of Capt. NOTE.—The references to persons named Torrey, found in the volumes of "French and Indian War" and of the "Revolutionary War" records, Massachusetts Archives, printed in the preceding 24 pages, do not exhaust this source of information, as the papers there stored in boxes and bundles are likely sources for much valuable knowledge, which may be made accessible at a future day. It is thought that persons of this family in America lived, up to the time of the Revolutionary War, almost exclusively within the New England colonies, and that the archives of those colonies should be searched for data in preparing its history. The compiler invites to this subject the attention of such persons as are interested in recovering it. The searches for what is herein given were made by George W. Brown, Esq., of Newtonville, Mass., a gentleman with special knowledge and skill in the matter, whose service is commended to any one wishing to have like searches made.

THE PLANTING OF NEW ENGLAND.

"When the Long Parliament met in 1640, the Puritan exodus to New England came to an end. During the twenty years which had elapsed since the voyage of the Mayflower the population had grown to 26,000 souls. Of this number scarcely 500 had arrived before 1629. It is a striking fact, since it expressed a causal relation, and not a mere coincidence, that the eleven years, 1629-1640, during which Charles I. governed England without a parliament, were the same eleven years that witnessed the planting of New England. For more than a century after this there was no considerable migration to this part of North America. Puritan England now found employment for all its energies and all its enthusiasm at home."—John Fiske.

These immigrants were selected material, gathered from all parts of England—people with strong convictions and great energy of character, and having enough property to allow of their migration to America. For nearly one hundred and fifty years after the planting of the colonies they received so few additions to their numbers from abroad that, by their inter-breeding, they progressed far toward the establishment of specially marked hereditary traits. To this is largely due the notable influence which their descendants have had in the forming of new communities throughout our vast territory, an influence much greater than has been their proportion in the population.

ADDITIONAL ETYMOLOGICAL ITEMS.

The following definitions are from Dr. Jamieson's "Etymological Dictionary of the Scottish Language," 8 vo. ed. of 1818.

TOR (of a chair) n. Perhaps the round or the semi-circular arm of a chair of state.—Knox.

TORRIE n. A term applied to peas roasted in the sheaf.—Pfe.

TORRY-EATEN adj. Torry-eaten land, poor moorish soil, exhausted by cropping very bare, and having only tufts of sheep's fescue.—Northern Scotland.

"The tongue in England, as well as in Norway and Denmark, was then (979) one, but it changed in England when William the Bastard won England."—Gumlang Ormstunga's Saga, c. 7, cited in the Viking Age.

INDEX.

Where possible, some date is given with each name in the index to enable the searcher to identify the reference without examining the text. Usually the years of birth and of death are given, with the word "date," if the person was living at the time when their record was compiled. The great number of names in the genealogical record makes an extended index unavoidable, and furnishes a reason for not extending it still further, with many other matters, which are at best but incidental to the purpose of the book.

The index references are, unless otherwise stated, to the family paragraph in which the principal account of the person will be found. The abbreviations used are a., about; b., born; ch., child; d., died; dau., daughter; m., married; s., son.
